Ordering Information

Programs on Videotape
Videotapes of all programs listed in this catalogue may be purchased from TVOntario's videotape program service (VIPS). In fact, many may already be in the holdings of your board's audiovisual centre, and included in its learning materials catalogue.

As a custom-dubbing service, VIPS provides programs on TVOntario-supplied tape or customer-supplied tape in the following formats: 1/2" cartridge, 1/2" Betamax cassette, 1/2" VHS cassette, 3/4" cassette, 1/2" open reel, and 1" open reel. Programs may be grouped on each tape up to a maximum of 60 min, according to customer specifications.

Ordering Videotapes and Publications
Ordering procedures differ from board to board. Check first with your media coordinator.

All of the support materials relating to series, which are indicated in the Relevance Table and in the Series and Program Descriptions section, are available to educational institutions in Ontario. To order, please use the Publications Order Form at the back of the catalogue.

Dubbing rates and charges for TVOntario-supplied tape vary with format and length of program. For pricing information and the ordering of programs contact your audiovisual coordinator or:

TVOntario Customer Service
Box 200, Station Q
Toronto, Ontario M4T 2T1

Telephone: (416) 484-2610

For information about programs and support materials outside Ontario, please contact:

TVOntario Marketing
Box 200, Station Q
Toronto, Ontario
Canada M4T 2T1

Telephone: (416) 484-2613 Telex: 06-23547

Prices indicated for support materials in the Series and Programs Descriptions section and the Publications Order Form at the back of the catalogue apply to Ontario only.

Series and Programs Available Outside Ontario
Series and programs with the following symbols are:

▲ available throughout Canada
△ available in the U.S. and Canada

All other programs are available in Ontario only.

Expiry Dates
The expiry date listed in the program description refers to the date on which rights to use certain material in that program expire. On this date TVOntario may no longer distribute the program, and all copies in circulation should be erased.

However, program copyrights are frequently renegotiated and renewed expiry dates are established. In case of such renewal, please check with your media coordinator or TVOntario Customer Service before erasing or overdubbing expired programs.

This catalogue should be retained in your reference files. A supplement is planned to update it in 1983.

Introduction

This catalogue has been prepared in cooperation with the Ontario History and Social Science Teachers' Association. It contains a list of recommended programs which can be integrated into various history courses in the intermediate and senior divisions.

In order that teachers may determine at a glance the usefulness of each program, the guide incorporates a relevance rating that indicates the degree to which the program relates to the Ministry of Education curriculum guidelines. (See Relevance Table, page 3.)

The designation "Core" indicates the program is very closely related to curriculum guidelines. Both its depth and scope of coverage are appropriate.

The designation "Relevant" means that a program can be used to introduce or review a topic and stimulate interest while providing less than full treatment of a subject area.

The rating "Supplementary" means the program has peripheral applications to the subject and offers enrichment possibilities. Because parts of it relate to curriculum, it can be used to provide background information or to pursue specific interests.

In addition to this relevance rating there is a designation indicating the program's mode of presentation. "Talking/Discussion," for example, indicates that the program's content is presented mainly through discussion.

The catalogue follows as closely as possible the subject headings in the Ministry guidelines. In the case of the senior guidelines, the subject headings reflect the main content of the course as interpreted by the writers. We suggest that teachers preview programs to ascertain their relevance to individual courses.

Series and Program Descriptions

Adventures in History

Adventures in History documents the lives of new and settled Canadians in times of personal stress and historical turbulence. The eight half-hour dramas, some of which are highlighted by historical film footage, revolve around common themes: war, the veteran's plight, immigration, multiculturalism, unemployment, aging, growing up, and stepping into the unknown future. The protagonists are "ordinary" people in familiar, universal situations. The series contributes a personal perspective to its subject area — Canada's history — and is suitable for students at the intermediate and senior levels.

Strangers at the Door
BPN 155401
28 min/color
Expiry: 26 Mar. '83

A young Eastern European family, travelling steerage to Quebec City in 1907, eagerly await life in Canada and are hopeful that the interview with immigration officials will go well. Their worst fears are realized when the medical examiner finds an infectious eye disease in the eldest daughter, and has her deported.

Voice of the Fugitive
BPN 155402
29 min/color
Expiry: 26 Mar. '83

In 1851, black preacher Sam Henry leads seven slaves out of the southern U.S. to Canada via the Underground Railway. Pursued by bounty hunters, three of the slaves are captured, but the rest are welcomed to the Chatham area of Ontario by earlier escapees.

The War Is Over
BPN 155403
27 min/color
Expiry: 26 Mar. '83

Soldiers returning to Halifax after World War I attempt to start up a boisterous celebration of their victory in Europe, but the ship's major insists on rigid military discipline. When he drills a young soldier against the advice of the ship's doctor, the crew stages the lad's death to teach the major a lesson.

Teach Me to Dance
BPN 155404
29 min/color
Expiry 5 Nov. '84

Sarah asks her Ukrainian friend Lesia to teach her a folk dance to perform at their prairie school's Christmas concert. The youngsters learn the realities of the prejudice faced by the Ukrainian settlers when Sarah's father forbids her to dance in Ukrainian costume with her friend.

The Africa File

Filmed on location in Africa, this series of 18 half-hour documentaries for senior history and geography students probes the conflicts and concerns of emerging African nations, and explodes our old myths and misconceptions about the Dark Continent.

Support Material: The Africa File, Teacher's Guide, free.

Tarzan Doesn't Live Here Anymore
BPN 105406
90 min/color
Expiry: 23 Aug. '84

What is it like to see Africa for the first time? This introduction to West Africa chronicles the film crew's own first impressions of the region and delineates the outlines of its peoples, geography, and history. A 60-minute version of this program (BPN 105452) is also available.

Our Ancestors the Bedouins
BPN 105407
30 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

The people and traditions of the Maghreb, the vast North African region that includes Algeria, Morocco, and Tunisia.

Search for the Past: Part 2
BPN 105408
30 min/color
Expiry: 26 Aug. '84

Although barbarous slave traders and European colonizers almost eradicated the African identity, they also sowed the seeds of independence.

Search for the Past: Part 1
BPN 105409
30 min/color
Expiry: 26 Aug. '84

Recent archaeological discoveries provide a key to Africa's rich history.

The Soul Bewitched
BPN 105410
29 min/color
Expiry: 8 Jan. '83

African nations, left with the adverse effects of colonial education, are trying to create systems more suited to their own needs and traditions.

To Teach Our Own
BPN 105411
29 min/color
Expiry: 16 Jan. '83

With still largely illiterate populations, African nations mount ambitious drives to meet the challenges of the twentieth century.

Foreign Investment: A Fair Share?
BPN 105412
29 min/color
Expiry: 8 Jan. '83

Acceptance of foreign capital and expertise has often brought profits to investors — but questionable economic and social benefits for African nations.

Kwame Kwaku: Between Two Worlds
BPN 105413
29 min/color
Expiry: 24 Oct. '84

Kwame Kwaku, a man at home in two different worlds, describes the move from an African village to an American metropolis.

The Business of Aid
BPN 105414
29 min/color
Expiry: 8 Jan. '83

An analysis of Africa's growing awareness of its true needs and the ambiguous self-serving nature of foreign-aid programs — including Canada's.

From Country to Town
BPN 105415
29 min/color
Expiry: 8 Jan. '83

There are tragic consequences from the urban explosion in developing African nations as more and more people are lured away from their land and traditions.

Stronger than the Strongest: The Algerian Sahara
BPN 105416
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Sept. '83

Government social and economic programs are transforming the nomadic people of the great Algerian desert.

The Mourides: Africa's Black Muslims
BPN 105417
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

This unique religious community has a powerful influence on the social, political, and economic life of Senegal.

Economic Development of the Maghreb
BPN 105418
29 min/color
Expiry: 29 Oct. '84

With different resources and government policies, Algeria, Morocco, and Tunisia have had varying degrees of success in dealing with the problems of underdevelopment.

From Scheherezade to Selima
BPN 105419
29 min/color
Expiry: 3 Sept. '82

A profile of today's Arab woman whose status and attitudes still reflect acceptance of the ancient male-dominated traditions of Islam.

Algeria: Consciousness and Action
BPN 105438
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

An assessment of Algeria's struggle for social and economic reform since the hard-won independence of 1963.

Dakar the Beautiful
BPN 105439
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Beyond the modern façade of Senegal's capital lies the city's vast shantytown, with its overcrowding, unemployment, and simmering violence.

Fez: City or Museum
BPN 105440
29 min/color
Expiry: 19 Jun. '84

This sacred Moroccan city, ancient centre of Islamic civilization, faces the encroachments and pressures of the twentieth century.

Between Two Africas
BPN 105451
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

In their attempts to control their own destinies, Morocco and Senegal face bitter struggles against poverty, illiteracy, and continued exploitation.

Animal Behavior

Animal Behavior is a series of five 15-minute programs that investigates fascinating aspects of animal life often overlooked. The first three programs explore the thought processes in animals as simple as the paramecium, and as advanced as the chimpanzee. Viewers watch detailed experiments and demonstrations that illustrate the narrative. Social structures in the animal kingdom and the phenomenon of beauty in nature are also discussed. The series is suitable for intermediate and senior students in biology programs.

Invertebrates: Conditioning or Learning?
BPN 584001
15 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '82

This program features a series of tests in which the simplest of creatures demonstrate their ability to learn. Viewers watch as paramecia learn to associate unpleasant heat with light, planarian worms traverse a maze, and honeybees connect color with food.

Do Animals Reason?
BPN 584002
15 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '82

A series of experiments are conducted to determine whether animals reason. Viewers watch a triggerfish removing small stones separating it from its meal, a starling identifying the bitter taste of food from its color, and two dolphins communicating messages in a pool.

The Tool Users
BPN 584003
15 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '82

This program proves that humans are not the only animals to use tools. It features fascinating footage of weaver ants constructing a tentlike home, finches in the Galapagos Islands using a thorn to peck for insects, and chimpanzees constructing a tool to reach a banana.

Konrad Lorenz: Science of Animal Behavior
BPN 584005
15 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '83

Konrad Lorenz, a pioneer in the field of animal behavior, explores geese's social structure and applies his findings to human social theory.

Are You Listening

In each half-hour program, Martha Stuart speaks with a group of people who are in some way connected with social change or social problems. Whether women in management positions, married couples sharing domestic responsibilities, or labor representatives, the interviewees discuss themselves and their development as human beings. The programs are intensely personal and should provoke thoughtful reaction in students of sociology and family studies.

Women in Management
BPN 134901
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Martha Stuart and a group of women including a college dean, a general in the U.S. Air Force, businesswomen, and executives, talk about the way it feels to be a woman and a manager. They discuss how women succeed following "men's rules," the importance of professionalism, the need for freedom to fail as well as to succeed, and the problems arising from concern about good working relationships.

Women in Middle Management
BPN 134902
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Martha Stuart and a group of women executives from A.T.&T. discuss the special career problems of women in management.

Men Who Are Working with Women in Management
BPN 134903
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Producer Martha Stuart talks to a group of male executives from A.T.&T. about the problems they faced in learning to work with women.

Women
BPN 134904
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Producer Martha Stuart talks with a group of women from widely differing backgrounds about their images of themselves, the need for both men and women to have fulfilling lives, not lives locked into roles, and the impossibility of considering women's problems in isolation.

Couples Who Are Sharing Responsibilities
BPN 134905
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Martha Stuart talks with a group of couples who are organizing their lives according to new contractual agreements and sharing equally the responsibilities of homemaking, child rearing, and breadwinning.

Women Who Have Had an Abortion
BPN 134908
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Martha Stuart talks to women who have had abortions about their experiences and about society's punitive attitudes towards sexual relationships. The conclusion is that to have a baby is a more serious decision than not to have one.

Shop Stewards
BPN 134912
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Martha Stuart talks with a group of shop stewards, men and women from various unions, about the need for dignity and self-respect at work, the relative importance of money, and being made to feel like a person on the job.

Pottery and glassware from the Royal Ontario Museum's Roman collection are featured in this program.

The Ascent of Man

This 13-part series, written and narrated by scientist Jacob Bronowski, examines the major steps in human cultural and intellectual evolution. Focusing on aspects of human progress and discoveries such as the theory of evolution, developments in the arts and sciences, and upheavals in political power, Dr. Bronowski offers a cogent interpretation of seminal ideas, and discusses the social contexts that produced them. Filmed around the world, this pictorially striking series also contains some unique footage — the Vatican's secret archives, and a nomadic tribe's seasonal migration through Iran's Zagros mountains.

Lower than the Angels
BPN 114801
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Introducing this series as a personal view of human intellectual history, Dr. Bronowski traces the anthropological development of early man. He focuses on the unique human ability to use foresight and imagination to adapt culturally to varied geographical environments.

The Harvest of the Seasons
BPN 114802
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Dr. Bronowski outlines the developments that led to the greatest single step in the ascent of man — the agricultural revolution. Observing the harsh, unchanging lifestyle of the nomadic Iranian Bakhtiari people, and visiting the ancient city of Jericho, he explains how the emergence of agriculture and village life freed the human intellect from the struggle for mere survival.

The Grain in the Stone
BPN 114803
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Dr. Jacob Bronowski explores the intellectual triumphs of stonemasonry, looking at structures in South America, Europe, and prehistoric Arizona. He describes innovations such as the Roman arch, the Gothic arch, and the flying buttress, and discusses the growth of sciences out of the builder's crafts.

The Hidden Structure
BPN 114804
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

The ancient crafts of alchemy and metalworking are identified as the forebears of modern atomic theory. Dr. Bronowski profiles the careers of the alchemist Paracelsus, and scientists Priestley, Lavoisier, and Dalton, and observes an ancient samurai sword-making ceremony in Japan.

Music of the Spheres
BPN 114805
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

On the Isle of Samos, birthplace of Pythagoras, Dr. Bronowski traces the efforts of the ancient Greeks to discover the numerical language of nature. He investigates Arabic arithmetical refinements, and the spread of mathematics to Europe, where it engendered startling changes in intellectual perceptions, painting, and astronomy.

The Starry Messenger
BPN 114806
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Visiting the archaeological ruins on Easter Island and the ancient Mayan city of Copán, Dr. Bronowski suggests that these ancient cultures, although advanced in many ways, had little understanding of the stars' movement. He also enters the Vatican's archives to dramatically re-create the trial that followed Galileo's presentation of his revolutionary concept of the universe.

The Majestic Clockwork
BPN 114807
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Profiling two giants of the scientific world — Sir Isaac Newton and Albert Einstein, Dr. Bronowski compares their personalities and explains the nature of the physical universe posited by each. Einstein's Theory of Relativity is explained.

The Drive for Power
BPN 114808
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Dr. Bronowski explains the crucial issues and advances of the nineteenth-century political revolutions in France and America, and of England's Industrial Revolution. He points out that the shift in political power toward the common man coincides with the new ability to harness natural powers — both essential steps in the ascent of man.

The Ladder of Creation
BPN 114809
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Filmed mainly in England and the Amazon, this episode traces the paths of English contemporaries Charles Darwin and Alfred Wallace — who independently recognized natural selection as the process behind the origin of species. Bronowski also shows how the theory paved the way for scientific understanding of the biochemical nature of life.

World Within World
BPN 114810
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Jacob Bronowski traces the development of modern physics from Mendeleev's brilliant periodic table in the late 1800s to the twentieth-century concept of the atom. He outlines the discoveries of physicists J.J. Thomson, Niels Bohr, Max Planck, Ludwig Boltzmann, James Chadwick, and Enrico Fermi, and discusses their impact on contemporary science and culture.

Knowledge or Certainty
BPN 114811
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Explaining the principle of uncertainty in physics, Dr. Bronowski stresses that since artistic or scientific analysis can never yield absolute knowledge, tolerance is essential in all human endeavor. At the University of Göttingen and the Auschwitz death camp, he relates this lesson to the tragedies of World War II.

Generation Upon Generation
BPN 114812
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

Dr. Bronowski visits the Czech monastery of Brno, where Gregor Mendel, the forefather of modern genetics, conducted his experiments with pea plants. After explaining the significance of James Watson's discovery of the DNA structure, Bronowski emphasizes that sex, which complements the mutual love of human beings, also perpetuates the evolutionary process.

The Long Childhood
BPN 114813
52 min/color
Expiry: 4 May '85

In the final program of the series, Dr. Bronowski explains that a uniquely human biological feature is the prolonged learning process that takes place during childhood. Bronowski cites societies that have remained static because they limited freedom of imagination by restricting the intellectual scope of their children.

Behind the Shield

Journalists Scott Symons and Mary Kay Ross investigate Ontario's unique character in this subjective portrait of the province and its concerns. Controversial issues introduced by the hosts include immigration and multiculturalism, the Americanization of Canadian culture, Ontario's Anglo-Saxon heritage, and urban development's lack of character.

The Border
BPN 184201
29 min/color
Expiry: 24 Aug. '84

The significance to Ontarians of the international border and the vast American presence on the other side are explored by series hosts Mary Kay Ross and Scott Symons. They look at the rapid encroachment of foreign economic and cultural control, the erosion of Ontario's traditional differences from America, and the need to preserve our unique heritage.

The Greatest Inland Waterway in the World
BPN 184204
29 min/color
Expiry: 16 Aug. '84

Hosts Scott Symons and Mary Kay Ross discuss Ontarians' reluctance to recognize their entrepreneurial heroes, and consider the remarkable achievements of William Hamilton Merritt, who proposed and built the first Welland Canal in the 1820s. Merritt (played by actor David MacKenzie) talks with Ross about his original vision for the great inland waterway.

Elliot Lake
BPN 184210
29 min/color
Expiry: 1 Oct. '84

Mary Kay Ross and Scott Symons travel to Ontario's youngest town, Elliot Lake, meeting with residents to discuss the boom-and-bust aspects of the community, the recent opening of a French high-school, residents' attitudes to the dangers of uranium mining, and the unique character of northern Ontario towns.

The Town that Jargon Built
BPN 184211
29 min/color
Expiry: 1 Oct. '84

A look at issues surrounding the projected community of Townsend on Lake Erie's north shore. Intended to meet the housing needs of people working at Stelco, Texaco, and Ontario Hydro's huge plants, the community will be built at the expense of farmland, and will probably be susceptible to a spiritual desolation because of its instant, "plastic" nature.

Boiling in the Melting Pot: Part 2
BPN 184212
29 min/color
Expiry: 1 Oct. '84

Mary Kay Ross and Scott Symons continue to investigate the effects of immigration on the social makeup of Ontario residents. David Somerville voices the National Citizens' Coalition's concern that too many immigrants are arriving — to the detriment of all; York sociology professor Wilson Head disputes Somerville's data, points out the contributions immigrants have made, and discusses the racist attitudes they must face.

The Northern Edge
BPN 184224
29 min/color
Expiry: 1 Oct. '84

Driving around Thunder Bay, Scott Symons and Mary Kay Ross have a lively discussion about northern subjects, including the lumber industry, the encroachment of southern Ontario's commercialism, and the hypocrisy of Bay Street financiers who sell the province to outside business interests, and then reap the benefits of its cottage country.

Best Kept Secrets

Modern espionage had an illustrious beginning about four decades ago in the struggle against Hitler. What has happened to the spy? What has the ominous growth of "security" agencies come to mean? In Best Kept Secrets, series writer and producer Michael Jacot, himself a veteran of the British wartime spy system, gives the comprehensive moral and human image of Western espionage. It is an illuminating series of historical and popular interest for intermediate and senior students, drawing on historical footage as well as extensive new research and interviews never before seen.

Expiry: 12 May '85

A moving, disturbing look at teenage suicide, a phenomenon that claims thousands of lives in North America each year. Two suicide "failures" talk candidly about the conditions that led to their death attempts, and the parents and friends of one boy who "succeeded," share their reflections, anguish, and guilt at the loss of a misunderstood young man.

Support Material: A Different Understanding: Adolescent Suicide, Resource Book, $2.50.

What Is Justice?
BPN 178017
29 min/color
Expiry: 6 Aug. '85

Tim, a juvenile offender eagerly anticipating release from a training school, candidly describes his disruptive childhood, his experience with the juvenile justice system, and his optimistic plans for the future. Footage of training school life and comments from legal and juvenile authorities indicate the urgency for reform in the system.

Tear on the Dotted Line
BPN 178018
29 min/color
Expiry: 4 Aug. '85

Charles and Cheryl, two teenagers in the care of foster parents, talk about their unsettled backgrounds, and the security and stability that life with the Martin family has brought into their lives. Their social worker, Nancy Nixon, describes the problems that the two must still overcome, and comments on their progress.

Sharp and Terrible Eyes
BPN 178021
87 min/color
Expiry: 12 July '85

Two young offenders struggle with themselves, their families, and the juvenile justice system to get back on the right track, in this documentary containing rare footage of life in a group home and in training school. Patrick Watson discusses the implications of upcoming legislation designed to update the system with law professor Bernard Dickens and psychiatrist Clive Chamberlain.

How Do the Gifted Grow?
BPN 183501
29 min/color
Expiry: 8 Apr. '85

Narrator R.D. Reid investigates prevalent attitudes and theories about genius by studying four classifications of gifted children: the academic achiever, the social leader, the creative intellectual, and the rebel. He finds that emotional security, peer pressure, and an individual's environment are just a few of the influences that the classifications do not take into account.

Support Material: A Different Understanding: Gifted and Talented Children, Resource Book, $2.50.

Pearls in the Alphabet Soup
BPN 183503
29 min/color
Expiry: 29 June '85

This program explores some alternative education programs for gifted children: special provisions in a regular classroom, enrichment classes, and "withdrawal" programs. Teachers, educational experts, and children talk about the need for such programs, and their benefits to both gifted children and society.

Support Material: A Different Understanding: Gifted and Talented Children, Resource Book, $2.50.

Economics: The Canadian Experience

Economics: The Canadian Experience is a five-part series of half-hour programs that explores the extent to which economics and politics are intermingled in Canada. The programs feature interviews with economists, businessmen, educators, and politicians attending the 1977 economic conference at Camp Couchiching. Topics under discussion include the Canadian economic system; inflation and unemployment; economic growth; government involvement with the economy; and the need for improved economic education. Host Judith Anderson expands the discussion with detailed explanations of some of the economic theories at issue. This series would be helpful in Canadian studies and economics courses at the secondary school or college level.

The Canadian Economic System
BPN 161501
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Mar. '83

Host Judith Anderson explains Canada's mixed economy — a combination of market (competitive) and planned (government-regulated) systems. Visiting the Couchiching Conference, the program includes interviews with Rodrigue Bilodeau, former president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; Michael Cassidy, former leader of the Ontario NDP; and economist Judith Maxwell.

Inflation and Unemployment
BPN 161502
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Mar. '83

Judith Anderson introduces discussion on the double-barrelled dilemma of inflation and unemployment. Commenting on the topic are businessman Rodrigue Bilodeau, labor representative John Eleen, economists Judith Maxwell and Grant Reuber, and cabinet minister Jean-Luc Pépin.

Economic Growth
BPN 161503
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Mar. '83

Economists, government officials, and business representatives comment on the factors influencing continued economic growth, and the need to revise growth objectives. Speakers introduced by host Judith Anderson include former Imperial Oil vice-president Ronald Ritchie, American economist Kenneth Boulding, cabinet minister Alastair Gillespie, and labor representative John Eleen.

Government and the Economy
BPN 161504
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Mar. '83

Noting the reservations that eighteenth-century economist Adam Smith had about government interference in a nation's economy, Judith Anderson introduces discussion of the Canadian government's deep economic involvement in fields such as health and welfare, industry, and employment. Kenneth Boulding, Ronald Ritchie, Rodrigue Bilodeau, Jean-Luc Pépin, Michael Cassidy, and Adam Zimmerman offer their views.

Understanding Economics
BPN 161505
29 min/color
Expiry: 15 Mar. '83

Host Judith Anderson stresses the need for a sound economic education for the layman, but representatives of the business and academic arenas — Judith Maxwell, Ronald Ritchie, Walter Pitman, and Ian MacDonald — emphasize the conflicts between classical economic theory and modern principles based on contemporary realities.

Episodes and Issues in Canadian History

The series deals with five issues that have been central to the evolution of the Canadian state: French-English relations in Central Canada; the status of Native Peoples in Western Canada; Canada-U.S. relations; French-English conflict in the Maritimes, and the role of violence in social change. Each program dramatizes a particular historical event to illustrate these issues.

The Family Structure: Responses to Pressure

What Do I Like about Tommy?
BPN 000464
25 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

A young teenager no longer feels a part of the family and can't understand why his parents are always nagging him about his looks and daily habits. His parents, on the other hand, can't stand his laziness.

Five Billion Men

In 13 half-hour programs, Five Billion Men surveys the conditions faced by the world's five billion inhabitants in both developed and underdeveloped countries. Using modern and archival film, animation, music, and narration, the series explores the inequitable distribution of food, natural resources, and money, and the resultant widening gap between the poor and the wealthy. Individual programs examine neocolonialism, immigration patterns, transnational corporations, advertising, and international aid. The programs can be used to supplement social and environmental studies, and courses in economics and contemporary issues at the high-school and postsecondary levels.

A Golden Opportunity
BPN 173101
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

Money and the people who control it are the subjects of this film. The main focus is the banking system — how banks generate money by investing and lending, and the roles they play in the financial lives of nations and individuals.

The Organization
BPN 173102
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This film examines the composition of a typical board of directors and the power this tiny decision-making body wields not only over its company, but over society in general. Bell Canada's case is cited: its 20-member board, with only a quarter of a percent of company shares, directs 80 000 employees and influences many millions of telephone subscribers.

The Gears
BPN 173103
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This program examines how three different spheres of economic activity — collection of raw materials, industrial production, and service industries — operate on an international level. It explains how a few monopolies in industrialized countries control the world's economy, while Third World nations, which produce raw materials, go further and further into debt.

Unfair Exchange
BPN 173104
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This program examines the Third World countries' spiralling dependence on Western manufactured goods. They are only encouraged to supply the West with raw materials and have therefore neglected their own industrial production.

The Conspiracy: Or How the Transnationals Do It
BPN 173105
28 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This film looks at the development of mammoth transnational corporations and their increasing stranglehold on raw-material resources, industry, financial institutions, and transportation facilities. The effects of these empires on Third World countries — which the transnationals say they're helping — are shown to be almost completely destructive.

To Work!
BPN 173106
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This documentary surveys the history of work from pre-industrial times to the present, and looks at some of the problems working has created in both developed and underdeveloped countries. The miserable lot of child and adult workers in many Third World countries is spotlighted.

Temporary Admission
BPN 173107
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This program surveys Western nations' changing immigration requirements: in the past, immigrants were needed to settle, and to develop industrial economies, but now many countries need only temporary cheap labor. The plight of temporary immigrants is examined, and the unfortunate effects of their departure on their home countries are explored.

The New Order
BPN 173108
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This program explains how the neocolonial policies of Western nations have actually brought other countries further from independence while purporting to aid in their self-determination. It shows how the U.S. puts leaders sympathetic to it into power, and gives examples of American intervention into other countries' internal affairs.

The Dispossessed
BPN 173109
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

An exploration of the increasing economic gap between Third World countries and developed ones, including a discussion of the origins and perpetuation of abject poverty in Africa, Asia, and Latin American countries.

Who Helps Who?
BPN 173110
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

This film reveals the sad truth about most international aid prorams — they're not helping anyone but the donors, and many are actually designed to create a favorable climate for foreign economic and political domination of the countries in which they operate.

Any Way/Any Price
BPN 173111
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

An exposition of advertising and mass consumption, this program shows how advertising influences our choices in the marketplace, and the disastrous results that can occur in Third World countries when inappropriate and irresponsible advertising combines with poverty and illiteracy.

Information Ltd.
BPN 173112
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

Viewers are told that a small Western elite controls all the written and electronic news services of the world, and that it presents world events with Western biases. Examples are given of commercial interests and advertising pressures that further influence the media's point of view.

More and More
BPN 173113
27 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '85

Stressing that industrialized countries' growth in production is not necessarily synonymous with progress, this program argues that the GNP of a country is a quantitative measure only, and fails to take into account other "products" of industrialization: pollution, stress, and the inequitable distribution of wealth.

Folklore

This series dramatizes the legends of Canada's Native Peoples.

The Legend of the Raven
BPN 581909
15 min/color
Expiry: 31 March '85

Winner of several national and international awards, this dramatized Inuit legend tells how the raven lost its power to speak.

The Loon's Necklace
BPN 581911
10 min/color
Expiry: 31 March '85

This dramatized Indian legend, winner of many national and international awards, tells how the loon acquired the white stripes around its neck.

Footsteps

*This 20-part series, produced through the U.S. Office of Education, uses drama to examine many of the thorny issues that parents face. Hosted by either well-known actors Rob Reiner and his wife Penny Marshall, or Mike Farrell (of M*A*S*H fame) and his wife Judy, each program dramatizes a difficult issue, such as a child's need to feel special, the role of creativity in childhood education, or the importance of honest discipline. The issues are dramatized by five families from different social and economic environments, presented in realistic, everyday situations. Documentary film clips of children and interviews with experts on child rearing follow. Although geared for adults and teachers of family studies courses, the series is suitable for libraries, Y groups, parent study groups, senior highschool students, and the general viewing audience.*

Support Material: Footsteps, Teacher's Manual, $10.00.

The Sandburgs: Queen for a Day
BPN 180301
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host a drama about children's need to feel special. Allison's parents, preoccupied with their jobs and Allison's younger brother, have not been giving her special attention. When Allison gets sick at school because she is not chosen for the class play, they begin to realize that their child has been feeling "invisible."

The Marshalls: No Comparison
BPN 180302
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Every child has his or her own unique abilities — a fact that parents should respect. Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a show that illustrates this lesson. Sandy Marshall assumes that her daughter Portia has the same love of athletics she had as a child. But Sandy's enthusiasm for racing is not shared by her little girl. When Portia runs away, Sandy realizes that her child should be allowed to explore her own interests.

The Hornbrenners: The First Signs of April
BPN 180303
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host this program drama. Little April's parents are so absorbed in the rigors of establishing a new life after their divorce that they pay little attention to her. Gradually, they realize that this is impeding April's development.

The Rileys: Two to Get Ready
BPN 180304
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Pregnancy is often a difficult time of adjustment for both prospective parents. Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a program about the problems of one young couple. Hunter learns that Laura needs more than financial support from him: she needs his emotional support too. The show features an unusually sensitive film clip of a woman giving birth to a baby.

The Sanchez Family: Who Is Sylvia?
BPN 180305
30 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Television has invaded most households in North America, and parents must decide how to cope with its effect on their children's lives. Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host this dramatization about one family's handling of the issue. After a young boy hurts himself jumping off the roof in imitation of a television superhero, Joe forbids his little girl, Christina, to watch television. But when she learns a valuable lesson from a television program shown at the community centre, Joe realizes that television can be helpful.

The Sandburgs: And We Were Sad, Remember?
BPN 180306
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a program about children's attitudes toward death. When Amos Sandburg's mother dies, he controls his grief so rigidly that his daughter Allison doesn't understand that his sense of loss is as great as hers.

The Hornbrenners: Love Me and Leave Me
BPN 180307
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a drama about the importance to a young child of stable attachments. Eighteen-month-old April cries piteously every time Sheila leaves her at a new day care centre. When Sheila's ex-husband wants to take April away for the weekend, Sheila decides that this additional stress is too much for their child. She plans to spend the weekend giving April the reassurance she needs.

The Marshalls: Spare the Rod
BPN 180308
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

What is the best way to discipline your child? Host Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner agree that parents should be neither too permissive nor too punitive, but they realize that the practice is not so simple. In this dramatization, Ted comes to realize that when punishment is used as discipline, children develop a mistaken sense of morality. Ted's method of dealing with his children — coercion and threats — is not as effective as his wife Sandy's attempts to give them choices and explanations.

The Rileys: What's Cookin'?
BPN 180309
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy introduce an educational drama about good eating habits. Laura and her husband Hunter bet that they can convert his family to eating vegetables. When Laura prepares vegetables in a new and interesting way, her brother-in-law and his children not only eat, but enjoy vegetables. A brief discussion by the Farrells and other couples follows.

The Sandburgs: True Blue
BPN 180310
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy introduce an educational drama about the important role of play and fantasy in a child's development. Young Allison has invented an imaginary companion, Big Blue, because the children in her neighborhood are too old for her. Allison's mother must learn to understand her lonely child's need for Big Blue.

The Sanchez Family: I Love You When You're Good
BPN 180311
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host this drama about the importance of unconditional love in giving a child feelings of self-esteem. When Lucy's daughter Patty misbehaves, Lucy tells her little girl that she is lovable only when she is good. At first, this method of child rearing appeals to Joe, whom mother and daughter are visiting. But he learns that a child needs love whether she is behaving well or not.

The Rileys: The Secret of Little Ned
BPN 180312
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a drama about the importance of paying attention to children — not only to their words, but to their behavior. When Laura and Hunter babysit their nephews over the weekend, little Ned is irritable with Laura, but cheerful with Hunter. Eventually, Laura figures out little Ned's message.

The Hornbrenners: Tightrope
BPN 180313
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Parents must tread a perilous line in caring for their children, making sure that they are being neither too permissive nor too protective. Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner discuss the two extremes in this drama. Bob thinks that his ex-wife Sheila overprotects their child. When little April takes a serious fall in the playground, her mother accuses Bob of carelessness.

The Marshalls: New Kid on the Block
BPN 180314
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

All parents want their children to be able to interact well with others. But how can they ensure that their children learn this life skill? Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host an educational drama illustrating one family's method. The Marshalls find that their neighborhood is shutting them out. They deal with the problem directly, and their two children learn something about social relationships.

The Sanchez Family: The Scratching Pole
BPN 180315
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

In their sometimes misguided learning attempts, children can be infuriating. Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a drama about the often obsessive need of children to learn through experience — even if it means repeating a simple game over and over again. Joe Sanchez comes to realize that just as a kitten needs a scratching post to learn how to use its claws, his daughter needs practice to learn her life tasks.

The Sandburgs: Hairy Scary
BPN 180316
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

How can parents help their children to cope with the inexplicable fears of childhood? Host Rob Reiner was afraid of almost everything when he was a child, unlike his wife and co-host Penny Marshall. They present a drama about little Allison's fear of beards. Both parents learn that they can help their child by taking her seriously.

The Hornbrenners: There Comes a Time. . .
BPN 180317
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her husband Rob Reiner host a drama about reaching out for help: the difficulties of doing so in a society that prizes independence, and the strength needed to do so. When the day care centre to which divorcee Sheila Hornbrenner sends her daughter runs desperately short of funds, Sheila learns to ask people for assistance.

The Marshalls: Stacking the Deck
BPN 180318
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mike Farrell, star of *M*A*S*H*, and his wife Judy host a drama illustrating both the wrong and the right way to instill confidence in a child. Marc's grandfather tries to teach him mathematics by ignoring Marc's accurate work and pointing out all his mistakes. When Marc completely loses his confidence, his mother takes the opposite tack.

The Sanchez Family: Christinitas
BPN 180319
29 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host a program that emphasizes the importance of encouraging children's natural creativity. Maggie and Tio Daniel decide to market a crib that little Christina has helped design. At first, Maggie's husband Joe does not take them seriously, but eventually he learns to appreciate Christina's creative impulse, and the importance of creativity in general.

The Rileys: I'll Dance at Your Wedding
BPN 180320
29 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '84

Prospective parents pray that their children will be born normal, but not everyone is lucky. Penny Marshall, co-star of Laverne and Shirley, and her actor husband Rob Reiner host a program about a young mother's difficulty in accepting her child's deafness. Laura finally learns that her despair will not help the baby to develop its full potential as a human being.

Impressions of the Soviet Union

This series emphasizes the human geography of the Soviet Union. It provides a field trip that allows students to meet a wide cross-section of people and view a great deal of social, recreational, and economic activities. Commentary has been kept to a minimum to permit viewers to absorb the feel of the sights and sounds of each locale.

The Land and the People
BPN 000664
20 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '83

Two Latitudes: Yakutsk and Dushanbe
BPN 000666
20 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '83

This program compares and contrasts two regions of the USSR — Yakutsk in the northeast and Dushanbe in the arid south. It explores the theme of social unity in the context of geographic diversity.

The New Siberia
BPN 000667
20 min/color
Expiry: 15 Jan. '83

This program traces the role of Siberia and the Soviet Far East as a primary resource supply area for the USSR. Links are drawn with the Soviet education system through the activities of young technologists in the region. The program examines the problems and achievements related to the area since World War II.

In Their Shoes

This nine-part historical drama series places the student "in the shoes" of characters who face crucial decisions at various historical moments. The 15-minute programs focus on Canadian history as the end result of many personal responses, and underscore this process by leaving each final option to the student's imagination.

The Law and Where It's At

The purpose of this series is to introduce the law as an exciting, practical, and contemporary subject of wide interest to intermediate and senior students. It attempts to involve the student in issues, concepts, and problems in modern Canadian law and, in particular, criminal law. The format for the series is the technique of making a film within a film. Three young filmmakers — a director-cameraman, a soundman-assistant, and a girl Friday interviewer — have been given an assignment: to find out all they can about the law and to record their discoveries on sound and film. Ed Ryan, a young lawyer, serves as a guide or consultant to help them work their way through this complex subject. The series is a beginning step to finding out what law is all about.

The Court That Works for the Child
BPN 001960
19 min/b&w
Expiry: 3 June '85

Justice, Morality and the Reasonable Man
BPN 008236
19 min/b&w
Expiry: 3 June '85

Can "justice" be defined simply as "giving every man his due," or are there a multitude of complications in defining the concept? Tradition, changing society, predictable laws, and the role of the police are some of the factors which must be considered.

Do Our Laws Reflect the Changing Society?
BPN 008237
19 min/b&w
Expiry: 3 June '85

An investigation of a range of attitudes and opinions on the law and our changing society.

The Law and You

The Law and You is a series of programs designed to inform viewers about aspects of Ontario law. Each half-hour program introduces a different aspect of the law through an entertaining drama, after which host Tom Cherington and his guests discuss issues raised by the presentation. Covering the basics of such topics as house and car buying, family law, minor offences, and child abuse, The Law and You provides viewers with the names and addresses of organizations from which more detailed information can be obtained.

So You Want to Buy a Car

A look at governmental efforts in Auckland and Jakarta to cope with burgeoning population and create an attractive comfortable urban environment.

The Moral Question

The Moral Question brings contemporary controversial issues facing society into a philosophical perspective. Following dramatizations that vividly illustrate the moral dilemmas involved, a group of prominent philosophers from Canada, the United States, and England critically examine the issues. Among the topics they discuss are abortion, capital punishment, poverty and affluence, the morality of war, suicide, and euthanasia. They attack these problems from philosophical perspectives ranging from utilitarianism to natural law theory. They also discuss methods of criticism and ways for people to analyze their own value systems. An absorbing, thought-provoking series for general audience viewers, The Moral Question is particularly suitable for courses in moral philosophy at universities and community colleges. The dramatizations and panel discussions can be purchased and shown separately, if desired.

Support Material: The Moral Question, Student Resource Book, $3.00.

Philosophers at Work: Suicide and Euthanasia
BPN 177908
29 min/color
Expiry: 13 Nov. '84

Philosophy professors Marvin Kohl (State University of New York), Philippa Foot (University of California), Jonathan Glover (Oxford), and Alan Donagan (University of Chicago) question whether people have a right to choose death for themselves or others. They also debate the distinction between killing and allowing someone to die.

The Right to Die
BPN 177909
29 min/color
Expiry: 18 May '85

An examination of the cases of Karen and Heather — two young women whose kidney failures caused them severe pain, and drove the former to choose death over a life of painful, regular dialysis. A surgeon, a philosophy professor, a medical ethics expert, a burn victim, and Heather, the kidney patient who chose to live in spite of her discomfort, comment on the morality of Karen's decision.

Better Off Dead. Who Decides?
BPN 177910
29 min/color
Expiry: 14 Sept. '85

This documentary examines the moral issue of passive euthanasia in relation to two cases: a London, Ontario couple who decided not to allow essential surgery for their Down's Syndrome child, and had their decision reversed by the courts; and Bernice Frederick, who has depended on a respirator for the past 18 years and feels, with some reservations, that her doctors should have "pulled the plug" long ago.

The Last Hanging in Canada
BPN 177911
29 min/color
Expiry: 14 Sept. '85

Two Florida prisoners on death row, a prison warden, an ethics professor, and a Salvation Army brigadier who witnessed Canada's last hanging in 1962, talk about the death penalty as it relates to society and to their own lives. Their overwhelming opinion is that capital punishment does not deter, but compounds violence, and is simply an act of revenge.

The Newcomers

The Newcomers, in seven hour-long programs, dramatizes the stories of men and women who left their homelands to begin a new life in Canada. A segment of the indigenous Pacific-coast Tsimshian tribe introduces the series, and subsequent programs, starring Bruno Gerussi, Susan Hogan, Michel Côté, and Hollis McLaren, feature immigrants from Italy, Denmark, the Ukraine, Britain, and France. Encompassing three centuries of immigration, The Newcomers will help Canadians appreciate their country's unique history, and the people who helped create it. This series can complement social and environmental studies, Canadian studies, and history courses at the intermediate and senior levels.

Prologue
BPN 198101
56 min/color
Expiry: 31 Mar. '86

An introduction to The Newcomers, this program recreates the daily life, customs, and rituals of British Columbia's Tsimshian tribe before the advent of the white man. When the tribe decides to choose a new high chief, it imposes a series of tests on two young men to determine which is more worthy of the sacred position.

1847
BPN 198102
59 min/color
Expiry: 31 Mar. '86

The poignant story of the trials and tragedy of Irish immigrants who braved the cholera-ridden voyage to Canada, and faced religious and racial prejudice upon arrival. Once Upon a Time. . .Man

This 26-part cartoon series, produced in France with the assistance of networks in Europe, Canada, and Japan, traces the development of Western civilization from the earth's creation five billion years ago to its possible destruction in the near future. Each segment focuses on an era of social history, such as the Cro-Magnon period, the age of Pericles, the conquests of Islam, the Industrial Revolution, and the First World War. Against these backdrops, viewers see the same archetypal characters — a family of four, their friends, and opponents — and witness their everyday life and reactions to the great events and personalities of their times.

And the Earth Was Created
BPN 171901
27 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

An animated interpretation of the world's creation processes, going back five billion years. The gradual developments of many kinds of plants and animals are portrayed, ending with the emergence of human-like creatures in Tanzania's Olduvai Gorge.

Neanderthal Man
BPN 171902
28 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

Several features of Neanderthal life are portrayed in cartoon form. Viewers see the introduction of simple stone and bone tools, pit hunting, cooking, and primitive art.

Cro-Magnon Man
BPN 171903
27 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

The Pax Romana
BPN 171907
28 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

A brief survey of Rome's ascendancy following the triumphs of Julius Caesar. This cartoon shows some of the Romans' many achievements: the roads, temples, bridges, entertainments, the Julian calendar, and the ordered peace that prevailed over all.

The Conquests of Islam
BPN 171908
28 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

A cartoon portrayal of conditions in the weakened Byzantine and Persian empires that led to the rapid warlike spread of Islam. The life and teachings of Mohammed are presented briefly, as are some of the tenets of his influential monotheistic faith.

The Carolingians
BPN 171909
28 min/color
Expiry: 7 Oct. '83

A journey through the Dark Ages, describing Rome's neglect of the empire; the rule of Clovis, king of the Franks; the barbarian invasion of Europe; and the reign of Charlemagne. Social phenomena such as the excesses of the nobility, the formation of strict legal codes, and the hardships of peasant life are documented.

The Age of the Vikings
BPN 171910

End of the Road?
BPN 176910
26 min/color
Expiry: 2 Oct. '83

This last program in the series focuses on the 1973 Yom Kippur War, which was rooted in a minor regional conflict that arose about 60 years before. By 1973, the dispute had drawn in the superpowers and threatened the whole world. Prof. Elie Kedourie outlines events since 1917 that expanded the conflict to bring in the U.S. and USSR, and describes peace efforts of recent years.

Sharing the Experience

Sharing the Experience profiles four mentally retarded people who are learning to live happily in the community, and the families and workers who help them. The four — a toddler, a schoolboy, a teenaged girl, and a 50-year-old man — all receive assistance and support from agencies connected with the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded. Each is featured in a half-hour documentary that shows how successfully the handicapped can be integrated into the mainstream of society.

With Gavin
BPN 196601
27 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '85

The parents of Gavin, a mentally retarded toddler, describe the helpful information and support they received from the Pilot Parents program of the Canadian Association of the Mentally Retarded. The family's and neighborhood's loving acceptance of Gavin has guaranteed him a happy and secure life.

With Peter
BPN 196602
30 min/color
Expiry: 31 Dec. '85

This profile of Peter, a severely retarded boy, follows him through his daily round of activities, and focuses on his warm relationship with his family. Tutankhamun's Egypt

This 13-part co-production of the BBC and Time-Life Films re-creates Egypt in the time of its most famous pharaoh, Tutankhamun. Each program is introduced with an object from Tut's tomb, and subjects range from the role of the Nile in Egyptian culture, and death and burial practices, to art, and the religion of the ancient Egyptians. Actor Eric Porter narrates, accompanied by film of artifacts from excavated sites, and footage depicting Egyptian life during the reign. These programs will be of interest to students and teachers of history, art, social and environmental studies in high school, community colleges, and university, as well as to the general public.

The Pharaoh
BPN 182801
20 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

The first program in this BBC documentary series looks at the pharaohs of ancient Egypt and their role in Egyptian society. The origin of the role and the evolution of their power are traced using the artifacts found in Tutankhamun's tomb.

The Land
BPN 182802
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Early Egyptians were a farming people dependent on the abundant waters of the Nile River for their survival and the rhythm of their lives. This program explores the agricultural base of ancient Egyptian society and its influence on the people's beliefs and deities.

The Nile Fleet
BPN 182803
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

The Nile, lifeblood of ancient Egypt, made transport a concern of both the living and the dead. Because the pharaohs buried ships to carry them to the afterlife, we can learn about the astonishingly sophisticated crafts of almost 5000 years ago. Viewers witness the reconstruction of a superbly preserved wooden boat intended for a king, discovered during excavations for a new road in 1954.

The Temple
BPN 182804
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Egyptian kings built temples to house their living deities, and depicted the activities of the gods in the artwork that decorates these "homes." Viewers are taken through a temple, from the magnificent airy entrance avenue to the dark, silent interior domain of the gods.

Death and Burial
BPN 182805
20 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Much of what is known about life in ancient Egypt comes from that society's apparent preoccupation with death, and the elaborate tombs of all who could afford decent burial. From the provisions left with the mummified kings, scholars can piece together the Egyptian lifestyle and philosophy. Narrator Eric Porter traces the development of the tomb from burial mound to mighty pyramid.

The Warrior Pharaohs
BPN 182806
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Ancient Egyptian kings loved to have themselves portrayed as warriors and actually spent much time on the battlefields. Viewers see a bow from the tomb of Tutankhamun that the young pharaoh may have used. We also see archival film of Howard Carter's opening the tomb in 1922.

The King's Councillors
BPN 182807
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Tomb paintings, documents, and artifacts reveal the hierarchy of councillors, priests, and civil servants employed in the pharaoh's service. Egyptologist Cyril Aldred displays a carved sceptre showing Tutankhamun as a young boy, and stresses the special importance of palace advisers in the boy king's reign.

The Scribes
BPN 182808
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Scribes not only recorded the day-to-day workings of the Egyptian bureaucracy — they directed them. Present at every activity from agricultural labor to temple decoration, they worked with compact, portable tools and developed hieroglyphic writing, the most beautiful writing system ever designed. A British Museum technician demonstrates paper making, and produces the kind the scribes used.

Science and Technology
BPN 182809
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Scientific knowledge in ancient Egypt was sufficiently great to deal with such projects as estimating crop yields and predicting floods, but it didn't approach the artistic and bureaucratic standards of the civilization. The Egyptian decimal system of counting and a few chemical achievements pale beside spectacular technical feats of construction. With animated sequences, this program demonstrates how enormous obelisks were quarried and erected.

Art and Artisans
BPN 182810
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

As esteemed members of society, ancient Egypt's artists and artisans worked eight-hour days, had relative affluence, assured board and lodging, and considerable independence. While few of them signed their works, records show how and where they worked. This film shows their excavated homes and workshops, and displays some of their formidable works of art.

War and Trade: Egypt's Place in the Ancient World
BPN 182811
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

Through warfare and trade, the ancient Egyptians participated in a lively exchange of goods and ideas. Trading partners supplied food, gold and building materials, while enemies inspired new military developments. Egyptologist Cyril Aldred examines a war trumpet, a communications device as vital, he says, as telegraphy in World War I.

The World of the Gods
BPN 182812
21 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

From all the conflicting stories of ancient Egyptian mythology, two constant themes emerge — water and sun. In one version, the sun god rises each day out of the primordial ocean, and traverses the sky in a boat. Actor Eric Porter narrates an exploration of the various local and universal stories, using tomb art and artifacts to illustrate the myths.

The Life and Times of Tutankhamun
BPN 182813
20 min/color
Expiry: 4 Jan. '86

This program offers a genealogy of the youthful king, and outlines the political, artistic, and military trends of his day. Egyptologist Cyril Aldred comments on the "detective work" essential to piecing together a coherent picture of the life of Tutankhamun. Clues are taken from the artifacts, furniture, and decorations of his tomb, and from contemporary records.

Values and Morality in School

Host Dave Bell introduces this series of four half-hour programs focusing on the imparting — both intentional and unconscious — of values and morality in schools. Designed for teachers, counsellors, and administrators, the series can be used in professional development workshops. Values and Morality in School explores techniques for teaching values, and features classroom sessions, filmed lectures and workshops, and interviews with teachers and concerned education experts.

Vista

Adapted from the popular British Horizon and the American Nova series, each hour-long Vista program offers a comprehensive overview of current scientific achievements and developments likely to affect our future. Host Stanley Burke takes viewers all over the world in his exploration of a wide range of topics, their theoretical backgrounds and latest practical applications. The series' documentary-style format includes interviews with Canadian and international experts, and striking film on subjects ranging from dinosaurs to fertility drugs; from solar energy to modern weaponry; and from computer fraud to the possibilities of human hibernation.

What's Wrong with the Sun
BPN 151201
60 min/color
Expiry: 15 Feb. '85

Host Stanley Burke presents the work of scientists who are attempting to understand the sun's evolution, structure, and varying energy output. Scientists have much verifiable knowledge about the sun's outer surface, and Burke presents some of their conflicting theories about what happens beneath it.

"You are old, Father William. . ."
BPN 151231
59 min/color
Expiry: 11 Dec. '84

A study of the physical effects of aging on the body — with graphic descriptions of the fate of the bones, skin, brain, and muscles over time. Gerontologists and medical experts explain how improvements in old people's mental and physical health can make their later years more enjoyable.

The Pinks and the Blues
BPN 151237
59 min/color
Expiry: 27 Jan. '85

Exploring the phenomenon of sexual stereotyping, Vista discovers that it still dominates the way in which children are raised. Through their visits to homes, hospitals, and classrooms, experts conclude that parents' and teachers' expectations of a child's behavior, success, and socialization are still primarily guided by his or her sex.

Ways of Seeing

Author and critic John Berger uses the television camera to present an incisive analysis of the mystification of art, past and present. Tracing the elements of traditional European oil paintings begun in the sixteenth century, Berger compares them to the sophistries of modern advertising. Students will gain a new perspective on art appreciation and, through the graphics presented and discussed, will learn a means of critically analyzing the bombardment of images they see every day.

Support Material: Ways of Seeing, Resource Book, $3.95.

Episode 1
BPN 142601
31 min/color
Expiry: 7 Jan. '85

John Berger demonstrates how the camera, television, and sophisticated reproduction methods have altered the individual's perception of classical European paintings. Introducing the positive and negative aspects of these changes, Berger reveals what he considers the mystification of art.

Episode 2
BPN 142602
30 min/color
Expiry: 7 Jan. '85

An examination of a popular subject in traditional European painting — the female nude. Host John Berger presents the Biblical and secular images of women in art and talks to five women about how they view these portrayals of their sex.

Episode 3
BPN 142603
27 min/color
Expiry: 6 Jan. '85

Using exemplary images, writer John Berger demonstrates his view that sixteenth- and seventeenth-century European oil paintings glorified the ability to own things. He attempts to uncover how the technique of oils enabled the wealthy to make exaggerated claims and set themselves up as objects of envy and respect.

Episode 4
BPN 142604
30 min/color
Expiry: 6 Jan. '85

Writer John Berger continues his argument that European oil paintings and modern publicity images have much in common: the fashion model having replaced the goddess of old. He shows how advertising falsely promises the individual a new radiance through the purchase of a product.

The Way We Are

The Way We Are, a series of 12 hour-long programs, examines various facets of Canadian life — the laws, history, politics, and people. Host Michael Magee — broadcaster, comedian, and sometime irreverent critic of Canadian society — introduces each program and talks with his guests, who include criminal lawyer Arthur Maloney, politician Jack Pickersgill, and authors Christopher Lasch and Robert Nisbet. Life in early Ontario, unemployment, the disintegration of the family, experiences of World War I veterans, and the issue of Quebec independence are some of the topics Magee and his guests discuss. The Way We Are raises vital questions about the nature and future of Canadian society. A useful supplement to courses in social and environmental studies, Canadian studies, and political science, at the highschool, college and university levels.

Sundays, Scotch Whisky & Sex
BPN 169102
59 min/color
Expiry: 23 Feb. '84

Fred C. Dobbs and J. Carter Hughs (both incarnations of series host Michael Magee) recall the old days of Toronto, and the city's prevailing attitudes to alcohol, sex, and the Lord's Day. Interviews with Toronto historians, officials, and critics, and archival photos and footage complement their nostalgic commentary.

Memories
BPN 169103
59 min/color
Expiry: 10 Mar. '84

Queen Victoria, symbol of a burdensome social code and of massive colonialist empire building, and England's most famous widow, is portrayed by Kate Reid. Her Majesty is accused of being an essentially passive monarch, as she deigns to grant this unique interview to Patrick Watson.

Emma Goldman
BPN 123925
26 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Red Emma was so called because of her leftist — later anarchist — leanings. But Emma Goldman had a temperament likewise fiery red, as she drove herself to save the world for women and workers, in league with a series of male companions. She discusses her extraordinary life, her zeal, and her ever-raging battle with authority. Stars Marilyn Lightstone.

Adolf Hitler
BPN 123927
27 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

A dramatized close-up of Adolf Hitler, played by Robin Gammell, suggests how the real man might have acted in an actual one-to-one televised interview. Hitler speaks fervently to host Patrick Watson about art, architecture, and his role as a visionary destined to save Germany.

Rasputin
BPN 123929
27 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

As the holy-man-in-residence to the Romanovs of pre-Bolshevik Russia, Rasputin left his impression on royalty, common folk, his colleagues, and even latter-day psychics. His story is sometimes ribald and a trifle mysterious, with the repeated assassination attempts he survived, and his "cure" for the czar's son — a hemophiliac. Here he lets us decide whether he was a con artist or a prophet. Stars August Schellenberg.

Lord Durham
BPN 123935
26 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

They called him "Radical Jack" but in this program Lord Durham presents himself as a nineteenth-century Solomon sent by England to pacify the rebellious Canadians. He reflects on the similarity of the situation to that of the American colonies 60 years before, and what would have happened if he'd been alive in 1776. This program stars Colin Fox.

Mahatma Gandhi
BPN 123937
26 min/color
Expiry: Unlimited

Mahatma Gandhi is remembered as a saint, a seer. What, however, were his personal visions? What were the goals he set to test his own strength? And what were his experiences as an ordinary man before achieving international reverence? Gandhi patiently explains his beliefs, political and spiritual, and the fears he tried to conquer. He considers the effectiveness of his work in the light of modern-day India. Stars Louis Negin.

World Leaders

The lives and careers of three twentieth-century leaders — Winston Churchill, Franklin Roosevelt, and Joseph Stalin — are investigated in this three-part series narrated by actor Sir Michael Redgrave. Each hour-long segment focuses on one member of the powerful wartime trio, following his rise to prominence, his achievements on the national and international levels, and his impact on his nation. Archival film — some of it rare — highlights the narrative. This series can be a useful complement to history studies at the grade 12 level.

World Religions

While the questions of religion remain the same, each faith approaches and answers them in widely differing ways. Their different answers, shaded by different cultures and climates, are not merely curious; they exert a profound effect on the politics and economics of countries around the world. World Religions, one of TVOntario's most popular series, makes no hard judgments about the correctness of any one religion, but allows adherents to speak for themselves. Students or general audience viewers are able to react in their own personal ways. The overall objective of the series is to evoke a sympathetic appreciation of the different faiths and an understanding of those who abide by them.

Tilt
BPN 580283
20 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

An animated film exposition of what is wrong with our world and how a little more sharing of the wealth on the part of the "have" countries might ease many of the world's economic ills. The world is compared to the ball in a pinball machine, bouncing this way or that, according to the way it is manipulated. The forms that manipulation may take are acted out by cartoon characters in a series of wryly amusing sketches.

Tobias on the Evolution of Man
BPN 584308
18 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '82

Phillip V. Tobias of the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg tells the story of man's development, showing some of the actual finds that have revolutionized anthropological thinking. He discusses an australopithicene fossil jaw that is 5.5 million years old, and other famous hominid remains ranging from one million to four million years in age, and speculates about their common ancestral origins.

The Voyageurs
BPN 580243
20 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

A program about the men who drove big freighter canoes into the Canadian wilderness in the days when the fur trade was Canada's biggest business. The film recreates scenes of a century ago on the 3000-mile river trade route to the Athabasca. With songs by a male chorus, this program presents a tuneful view of history.

Yesterday Today: The Netsilik Eskimo
BPN 580287
58 min/color
Expiry: 31 Aug. '85

Until the mid-1960s Zachary Itimignac and his family lived the nomadic life of the Inuit hunter in the Pelly Bay region of the Arctic. Then the Canadian government introduced measures to provide heated dwellings, a school, a hospital, medical care, a cooperative air transportation service, and other services. This program is a study of the impact of this changed way of life on one family. Film excerpts show some of the old ways before the coming of the white man.
